The University and integrated higher study programs are internationally accredited according to the standards of the World Federation for Medical Education; all study programs are nationally accredited and licensed, the Stomatology Program is also accredited by the Dental Board of California, USA.

The training is conducted in four languages: Romanian, English, Russian and French and is provided by over 1200 scientific and teaching staff, including academicians, PhDs and doctors of sciences.

The university offers optimal conditions for study and research: classrooms with high-performance equipment, state-of-the-art research centers and laboratories, over 2000 places in hostels, canteens, two sports complexes and an outdoor sports field, recreation areas with free Wi-Fi, etc.

The University Center for Simulation in Medical Training plays an important role in the training of future specialists. Here students develop communication skills with patients and practical skills with the help of high-fidelity simulators.

The practical activity of students takes place in 95 university clinics, located in republican and municipal health institutions. Due to external partnerships, students benefit from various international academic mobility programs, which allow them to serve their internships in foreign medical institutions and clinics.

The Health Sciences Library of the University (<http://library.usmf.md/>) offers modern information services: access to documentary resources by borrowing publications at home and in 3 reading rooms, as well as in rooms for group work, but also access to databases and interactive programs in 5 information centers.

Currently, 6000 students from the Republic of Moldova and 45 other countries study at the University. Here you will live your student years beautifully as a member of the Association of Medical Students and Residents! The organization, which promotes the interests of students and conducts various scientific, sociocultural and sport events, is a model for other similar associations, because doctors prove that they are the best in everything!

We look forward to seeing you at Nicolae Testemitanu University of the Republic of Moldova!
